

2022 Annual James Lee Dickey Day Health Fair & Thanksgiving Feast of Sharing - Taylor, Texas HEALTH & WELLNESS VENDOR BOOTH SPACES

October 15, 2022

The Dickey Museum & Multipurpose Center will honor and celebrate the Birthday & legacy of Dr. James Lee Dickey (November 12, 1893 – May 18, 1959) Saturday, November 12, 2022, 11:00am – 2:00pm at the Fannie Robinson Park Pavilion in Taylor, Texas. We will celebrate the life of a man who was an advocate for community, health care and civil rights in Taylor, 1952 Citizen of the Year. We will celebrate a man who was recognized during his life work for numerous things but most of all his tireless efforts to improve the lives of Taylor African Americans in Williamson County, while also serving Bell, Milam, Travis and Bastrop counties as a physician. We are extending an invitation to the Health Districts, Non-Profits, and business owners that advocate for wellness & good health to participate in this event with a booth.

Booth Spaces will be available at the Fannie Robinson Park Pavilion located at 206 Dolan Street, Taylor, TX 76574. All participants are required to set-up (Time 10:00am) in vendor assigned space and have their booth in operation by 11:00a.m. Take Down Time 2:00pm.

Please send completed application before the event to assure space. Please indicate on attached form type of booth being applied for.

Completion of the application attached will reserve your space and need to be mailed or emailed back to the Dickey Museum no later than, November 9, 2022. Please send all applications to The Dickey Museum & Multipurpose Center, PO Box 1274, Taylor, TX 76574 or admin@dickeymuseum.org. Confirmation email will be sent out prior to the Dickey Day Celebration notifying applicant of booth space assignment.

For booth applications or inquiries please contact Jennifer Harris (512) 296-6109 or admin@dickeymuseum.org.
